FAMILY SCIENCE NIGHT

Scientists in School is very excited to be working with Castlefrank Elementary School to organize a Family Science Night! There is no cost to attend this event as the funding for this program has been generously supported through a Parents Reaching Out Grant and the Castlefrank School Council.

New this year, our Open House style allows families to come and go as their schedule permits. Come as a family to explore, discover and participate together in a variety of fun science and math activities. All of our activities use everyday materials so the learning can easily extend beyond the workshop into your home. Discover some nifty ideas for incorporating science and math into baking, backyard explorations, neighbourhood excursions and play.

Date: February 21, 2018

Location: Castlefrank Elementary School – Gymnasium

Time: 6:00-8:00pm

Please note that an adult must accompany your children. Registration is not mandatory, however; to ensure that everyone has a fabulous hands-on science experience, please let us know if you can attend.

Scientists in School is a leading Canadian charity dedicated to sparking children's interest in science, technology, engineering, math, and the environment through hands-on, discovery-based learning. At the heart of Scientists in School's work are our award-winning, inquiry-based workshops for Kindergarten through Grade 8 students. With Scientists in School, students become the scientists.
